

NINETEEN HUNDRED SEVENTY-EIGHT

The Virginian

THE VIRGINIAN
1977-78

Longwood College
Farmville, Virginia
23901

"Hey, did you know that Longwood is going co-ed?"

"WHAT?"

These were familiar words during the spring of '76.

We felt as if someone had dropped a boulder into the calm waters of Longwood College. Reactions ranged from those of anger and hostility ("They're not, I repeat—NOT, going to move me out of my room for some guy!") to a feeling of being cheated ("I came to Longwood because it was a women's college." . . . "If the government can support co-educational institutions, then why can't it support single-sex schools?") Emotions of happiness and hope were also recorded ("It could be fun, and maybe even challenging!") "Maybe the social aspects will be more natural.") Others said that the guys had been here since WW II. This was true, however they had been day students. Don't let anyone fool you, this was a big change and life here at Longwood has been affected by our transition.

It has been two years since that rock landed in our puddle. Just as the waves created by a stone are at first violent and then become gentle swells, we have become calmer in dealing with the process of change. Gone is the need for the sharp-edged extremism of last year.

Our attitudes and outlooks, our dreams and aspirations — these are the shorelines upon which the waters of Longwood's metamorphosis lap. That's exciting. Change isn't always easy, nor does it happen quickly. As a matter of fact, sometimes it hurts. There is security in the past.

Life is not always steadfast and predictable. Change and all the hurts, fears and joys which go along with it is an integral part of living. We have to be able to let go of some things to gain others.

We have to broaden ourselves just as a river widens as it matures. We have opened ourselves to a greater range of experiences, we have grown!

We can't honestly say that we were completely ready for the transition. Yet freshman males are not receiving female physical forms to take to their doctors for completion (as they did the first year). No one is ever really totally prepared for a situation in which he finds himself. Some of our fears at loss of traditions seem to have been warranted. This is not the same school that it was two years ago; the academic focus is beginning to shift, and we have accomplished much change in the rewriting of the social code. There is still quite a bit to be done.

...we gotten past jumping into
...ers of change, the hardest part.
...a we can enjoy the swim. We still won't do everything right and there is a tenseness, a feeling of waiting, during any transition period. But this is fun.
You are, no We are a part of what Longwood is becoming. All of us are growing together, maybe learning more than ever the art of give-and-take. It will take time. We may fall, but there can be beauty in falling.

FACULTY

ADMINISTRATION

It's hard work being a leader. The top of the ladder looks a lot more desirable than it actually turns out to be. During periods of transition with the constantly changing currents and riptides of public opinion, the job of the administrator is even more difficult.

The administration this year has dealt with the predictable as well as the unpredictable disputes over life at Longwood admirably.

We have passed the violent fighting stage of last year and are all trying, and sometimes actually succeeding at the fine art of communication.

behind closed doors . . .

Each year a new stream of faces is added to the river that is Longwood. This year, as more freshmen and transfer students were accepted, the aspect of Longwood changed even more.

Remember when most of the people you recognized at a mixer were girls in your classes? Remember when "road trips" were the name of the social game? Remember when there was no dancing in the Red Lyon? You can add these to your list of the past.

We all need moments to relax and this year there were more college sponsored activities and more people who took advantage of the opportunity to play. It's more fun to dance with a friend than a complete stranger.

CAMPUS

LIFE

Moving In

You never knew you had so much stuff till you tried to pack your car for a year with everything you need. Then you drive, some fly, to the wonderful metropolis of Farmville, Virginia, to set up your home away from home. Some folks went all out to fix their rooms; fancy shelves, wallpapered bathrooms, even black lights. Yet it seemed as soon as you get the room fixed, the hassels of registration emerge. Standing in line for a class and then for books. Could this be the beginning of the end of a good time or a beginning?

OKTOBERFEST

OKTOBERFEST

A little bit of Germany descended upon Longwood's campus October 21 and 22. Oktoberfest, sponsored by geist the german word for spirit and imagination, marks a reunion of alumnae and students and is the highlight of first semester. Clowns were selected to promote blue and white spirit during the festivities. Exhibitions of spirit and talent were viewed in the skits on Friday and Saturday night. The Choir presented a pops concert, the H2O Club performed, and the Midway, full of displays kept the students busy. The beer garden, for the famished fathers, provided a German atmosphere. The Alumni Chi walk brought the busy weekend to a close. Our ingenuity and hardwork mixed with a lot of spirit and fun combined the "green" and "red" spirit to make a great blue and white weekend.

When you hear the word "sun" what is the first thing that comes to mind? A planetary body high in the sky— No, it's Longwood's Student Union. Sun provides the major entertainment each year at Longwood. Coffeehouses, Mixers, special weekends are just a few of the events sun sponsors each year. Mardi Gras weekend, a new idea which brought a break to the midwinter blues, was a first for sun this year. Sun's goal is to have "something for everyone" and they have done an excellent job this year.

SUN

Renaissance

On December 2nd, the Dining Hall was transformed into a medieval castle. The annual Renaissance dinner, one of the first signs of Christmas, is one of the most entertaining events sponsored by the Music Department each year. The Renaissance dinner is patterned after Advent Season celebrations in England. Dressed in 16th century attire, the Camarata singers dazzled the audience with sacred and secular selections associated with Christmas. Dr. James McCray played the role of "Lord of the Misrule," leader of the Christmas revelers. This year's three night production included a jester, a mime, traditional English dances, and four acrobats. The harpsicord and lute, musical instruments characteristic of the 16th century, were also included in this popular production.

P H O T O CORNER

Every yearbook editor, at a given time during her job, encounters some photography problems. The major problem being the lack of photos.

We encountered and conquered both this year. Our staff this year was small and lacked experience but emerged very productive. It is hard to imagine the number of quality pictures it takes to fill a yearbook. Joyce Ray, our chief photographer took almost every picture in our yearbook. That's more than one person should tackle but she managed excellently. After many long hours were spent in the makeshift darkroom, pictures slowly began to trickle in. These two pages are examples of some of Jay's best work.

SOON I'LL KNOW ME

It's hard to be strong no one knows I'm weak.
To know real strength is one thing I seek.

To face all problems
without fear or confusion,
It seems impossible to me
a long-termed illusion

I'm alone, there's no future in sight,
the fear is with me by day and night.
Keep up the front, I've got to be strong as long as I fake it nothing is wrong.

I want to find me, to be what I should.
No bottle it up, that's doing good.

I'll make it, I'll make it,
someday I'll find me,
Maybe in a year or two—possibly three.

ELVES

Merry
Christmas

Have you ever sat in a class and thought you were hearing bells? If it was the week of December 5th, your imagination wasn't off. Twelve freshmen disguised as elves transformed Longwood's campus into a "Winter Wonderland." Linda Paschal, president of the Freshman class, led the elves through a week of Christmas carolling, and door decorating. The highlight of the week was the decorating of the Christmas Tree for the students to enjoy.

"Music is Love and Love is Music", if you know what I mean. People who believe in music are the happiest people I've ever seen. Mac Davis set these words to music and the Longwood College Choir made the notes echo throughout Jarman in the Octoberfest "Pops" Concert. The concert choir performed on many occasions this year spreading the love of music throughout the state. We traveled to Roanoke on March 2nd to perform at the Hotel Roanoke. The choir also offers a variety of musical experiences to the members. Many noted musicians, like Ned Rorem and Mrs. McPartland, have visited Longwood this year to share their love of music with us.

This page was set aside for the yearbook staff and we are going to use it. This year's staff has many feelings about this book, some which should not be expressed. We have enjoyed putting this book together and hope that all the hard work which went into this publication will be appreciated. We are proud of this book and believe it is one of Longwood's best. There are many people who believe that a yearbook is a presto quicko production and that the editor and her staff possess magical powers. These beliefs are obviously false! The staff wasn't a group of "gifted" humans nor did they try to be. We were just a group of students who cared enough to get involved and make things happen. The staff tried to keep the students well informed but we can not succeed if the students don't do their part by reading the Daily Bulletin. Some of the picture problems may have been solved if students had assumed some of these responsibilities. To all those who have complaints about this book, join next year's staff and help correct them. There are so many people we would like to thank. Jeannie; for the words in this yearbook, Mrs. Doss; for all the extra help and advice she has given, Mr. Dent; for helping us keep our spirits high. The Post Office ladies; for putting up with our picture problems, The Public Affairs Office; for all the help they have been, my suite mates; for putting up with all the problems this year. A special thanks goes to Mrs. Stonikinis; for without her, none of this would have been possible. She has saved our lives many times. I would like to thank this year's staff (and they know who they are) for all the hard work and good times we have had. You will always remain special to me!

Sincerely yours,

The Longwood College Music Department is very devoted to the promotion of every type of musical experience open to the student. The visiting composer series has brought many new aspects of music to the campus. For the past three years, the department has featured a noted composer every spring. This spring the honored composer was Ned Rorem, the Pulitzer Prize winner in 1976 for music. Mr. Rorem spent three days at Longwood where he got a taste of some of the aspects of the Music Department. The Concert Choir performed several of his pieces, much to his liking.

Miss Longwood Pageant

SOUTHERN NIGHTS

"Southern Nights" was the theme of the annual Miss Longwood Pageant held on March 11. The ten semifinalist competed in personality competition, a thirty second talk describing themselves, talent competition, followed by bathing suit and evening gown competition. Last year's Miss Longwood Lyndi Chalkley, along with Charlie Mason did a fantastic job of entertaining the audience during the long breaks of the judges. Linda Kulp, was named 1st runner-up and Patricia Shirey was 2nd. Kim Turnbull, a junior elementary education major, was crowned Miss Longwood 1978. The most talented award went to Jill Zeavin. All the long hours put into the production of the pageant made it a complete success.

LONGWOOD

"To be or not to be, that is the Question" . . .

That question was answered by the most dramatic group Longwood has on campus: the Longwood Players! The group consists of Students interested in the theater, either acting or doing behind the scenes work. The Players do all the sponsoring, producing, and advertisement for their productions. Plays are presented four times a year. This year's repertoire consisted of: Our Town, Little Eyolf, Fiddler on the Roof, and Angel Street. All four were different in their own way, and had different types of acting, but I do believe that everyone who saw the plays will agree that they were all quite entertaining.

TAKE TO THE OUTDOORS

The weekend of April 7, 8, 9 never before saw as much joy and excitement as it did this year. That weekend was the setting for SPRING WEEKEND '78. With the glory of Mother Nature providing the fabulous weather, the Student Union providing the events, and the people providing the energy, the mixture turned out a fun-packed weekend.

The weekend began with the hilarious antics of the Loco-Motion Circus and later that night "Casper" entertained at a mixer. A successful Dance Marathon began that night and steadily continued for 18 hours.

Team and individual games gave everyone a chance to show off their athletic talents if they were not participating in the tennis, gymnastic, fencing, lacrosse or baseball events.

The warm sun and foot stompin' music by "Southern Hospitality" made eating Slater food a pleasure at Saturday's picnic.

Entertainment by "Tall Dogs," Mike Marlin, VMI Choir and "Pound and Rogers" rounded off the fantastic weekend.

With a successful Spring Weekend over, students came back to reality and schoolwork. They laid their heads back with a smile that said they were sure it was Spring.

Chi is an organization whose essential purpose is to promote and maintain a spirit of brotherhood among members of the college community. The tangible evidence of Chi's presence on campus includes the signs on the sidewalks and the cheers to the student body encouraging support of college functions and academic excellence. However, the real evidence of Chi can be seen in the hearts and minds of those who seek its real purpose.

GRADUATION

Happy Graduates . . . !!

CLASSES

ACADEMICS

We, the students of Longwood are like a stream; ever flowing, ever changing. Perhaps at one moment a leaf floats on the surface of the water and the next moment that same leaf is snagged by a tree limb or rock only later to continue on its journey to the sea.

Leaves on the water are like the new ideas and attitudes to which we are exposed in our classes here at Longwood. We can hold fast to some of the things we learn and let go of those other bits of information which are unimportant to us. However there is always variety and always something new.

One of the new additions to the academic side of life (late night studying will never be new, although the people you study with might change) is the greater number of males in classes. Academic interests are expanding into areas other than education as evidenced by our growing business department. The bass and tenor voices you hear (whether under your window or when viewing a musical or dramatic production) are those of our own students. Discussions in and out of class are more lively due to the greater variety of opinions and viewpoints.

Although this is only our second year as a bona-fide co-educational college the effects of the introduction of males to Longwood's classes are already being felt. Perhaps one day Longwood won't be only known for its excellent teachers but also for outstanding people in all walks of life.

Canoeing, tubing, swimming, whitewater rafting, waterskiing are all water sports. You say we don't really do any of these except swim — perhaps not here at Longwood but these sports do have something in common with our sports program. Persistence, patience, perseverance, work and co-operation among members are all needed in order to make any team worthwhile. All those involved in sports program here have exhibited these qualities.

We have come a long way this year in the development of men's teams. For the 1st time men's basketball, soccer, baseball, and golf were on the varsity level with wrestling as an interest group.

In Women's sports, hard work has also paid off. We experienced many achievements and some losses but although defeats hurt they are the experiences we learn the most from.

One of the advantages of our transition is the fact that new athletic improvements and facilities are being planned.

SPORTS

field hockey

Julie Dayton passes the ball up field as Terry Voit and Carol Filo gain positioning.

Terry Voit realizes that U.N.C. player do the twist as she remains in control of the ball.

ENERGY

Carol Filo Hustles to get her ball back.

A proud coach . . . Ms. McDonough

Unity is a major point in any well working group — no matter what the size or type. Is it possible for twenty-nine females to work together and function smoothly as a group? That question was well answered by the 1978 Field Hockey Team — the answer was affirmative. They sure can!!

Led by their dynamic new coach, Ms. D. McDonough, the group became an enthusiastic team ready to take on anyone. They did take on quite a bit of competition, but nothing their skill and spirit could not handle.

What form . . . !!!

Spirit!

Coach McDonough Manages to be two places at one time quite often!!

The second team plans out the winning strategy during the Oktoberfest game.

Carol Filo gains control of the ball while Julie and Scottie look on.

How does a group make up a team
Over practice day by day?
Choosing work and never play?
Keeping busy: work and run,
Every player having fun;
Yet the group together acts as one.

SOCCER

Determination, hard work, spirit, a lot of guts and a little bit of luck is what characterized the Longwood Soccer Team. They did a lot of hustling, while learning the many sides to team play. There were only three returnees from last year's soccer team, which made the majority of the team young and inexperienced, at collegiate soccer that is. This group made up their lack of experience with their enthusiasm and love for the sport of soccer. The lancer's fearless leader was Coach Williamson, who dedicated many hours on the field to his deserving team. The team, although their record wasn't too impressive, held themselves together as a functioning unit powered by the spirit of blue and white.

Making faces makes the ball go faster . . .

"Wow! What a team!", was a comment frequently heard at a tennis match where the Longwood "Acers" were playing. This top-rate team played through the falling leaves and brisk weather of autumn to the rainy, breezy springtime air.

Their practices were long and tiring but as everyone knows "practice makes perfect!"

More Control

Cindy Landon goes up, under close watch of an East Carolina player.

Dot Foley works on her shots during practice as the rest of the team work on different skills.

Mary and Linda Bamler penetrate through the defense to shoot.

All of the grueling practices paid off for the Women's Basketball Team. Day after day they sweated it out in French Gym and week after week they pulled in the victories. Placing Third in the State, they were defeated by ODU at Tournaments and during regular season play.

Teamwork is what did it all for the Lancers, however, there was a lot of individual talent, too. Put 2 and 1 and 2 together and you get a defense that got them Second Place at the Winthrop Invitational Tournament in South Carolina. Put 10 and 11 and 6 together and you get a team that did a super-fantastic job working on their game — BASKETBALL!

That Lady Monarch has hit an obstruction

The will to

WIN

The Lancer's All-State and All-Tournament player for the past four years — Sue Rama.

"... Go in! Go in! ... please! ...", asks Cindy Sanders.

In the final analysis, as the old maxim says, "It's not important whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game that counts."

... It's a bird ... it's a plane ... no! it's Super Sue — up for two!

Fencing

Concentration is the name of the game.

Form will win it for you every time.

The smiles of Victory

The champs show how all their hustle paid off.

Men's

Basketball

Kevin Newton gets a lot of extra height before shooting.

Could it be a May pole?

Lancer penetration in the enemies defense.

With only a couple of veterans returning, the Longwood Men's basketball program did quite well. The young team took on a lot of older, more experienced basketball teams, and played good games against them. They didn't win all that many games — but if winning is the only goal — it won't get you too far. They played good ball, and learned a lot in the process: not just about basketball, but about life in general, which constitutes a good well-rounded group of guys: The Mens Basketball Team.

"Two points for the Lancers!"

GYMNASTICS

Longwood's Leaping Ladies

Hang on for your life!

A few of Longwood's gymnasts: Kristi Baulmer, Dede Wolk, Kim Furbee, Clare Gillis, and Debbie Harrison.

"It's a bird, It's a plane, no it's Debbie Kinzel!"

Discipline is a trait you will find in any gymnasts at Longwood; For it takes a well disciplined athlete to work out ten hours a week from September to March. The gymnasts must stay in shape, and keep their weight down, in order to perform at top caliber. (We know that all those stories about gymnasts porking-out are just tall tales, right). The gymnasts showed Longwood that she could remain proud of her team, through their determination, skill, and hard work. The team had a great season and placed high in the state tournament sending them to regionals. Longwood couldn't ask for a better bunch of girls than this year's gymnastic team.

The form of a winner.

Kim Furbee concentrates on her next move.

*When mind

Anything

Jump for joy!

Vaulting makes some stiff bodies limber

Point toward the heavens!

Debbie Harrison holds a graceful pose.

The big hand is on the eleven and the little hand is on the three!

Stretch

"Freeze!!" Now just hold that position for a minute more . . .

Lacrosse is a word that to some connotes a rough, foul-playing, bloody game; but for those who played and watched Longwood Lacrosse, the moments of quick movement, precise timing, and fun playing occurred more often. There were times when the team play seemed choppy and not continuous; those times were soon forgotten when the ball was quickly moved down the field with short, swift passes, and expertly shot into the cage. Those smooth moving plays happened more and more as the season wore on and that same skill was taken with them to the tournaments. The tournaments taught the young team that their "Longwood Hustle" could threaten even a well-skilled, experienced team.

It was a learning year, and since there was only one senior on the team, all that was learned and practiced last year will be right with the team next year — along with new and exciting challenges and achievements.

Julie Dayton goes for the forward pass.

Teri Davis and Skeet Forthuber rush toward the goalie to score.

Smile Donna!! You're on candid camera!

Kelly Hale demonstrates the cradle.

The "three stooges," led by Janie Carson, harass the goalie.

It's powerful! It's fast!

The pictures to the left were taken during Longwood's first lacrosse "Cradle-a-thon". The fund-raising event was held to raise money for the National Lacrosse team to go to Europe, and also a percentage of the money went to Longwood's team. The team members participating did a lot of running, made a lot of money, and had a lot of fun!!

Donna "Squatty" Lowe demonstrates the "two-hand-jab".

The enemy closes in to score during tournament play.

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS

Wanda Peterson shows how easy it is to become eight feet tall.

Determined to get the ball, Terry Voit gives it all she's got.

Jeanne Nolte tries to figure out what the opposition is planning.

I often wonder if a goalie's mask is used to protect her from a ball travelling 75 miles per hour, aimed at her head . . . or rather to hide the expression on her face when she sees that ball coming . . .

Debbie Fore anxiously awaits the offense's next move.

The object: to stop the little white ball of lightning that's flying through the air.

volleyball

The 1978 Volleyball Team

STARS 'N' SPIKES

Reach for the stars! Jump up to the heavens! Dive for the impossible! Push yourself to the top performance! Maybe nineteen times out of twenty you'll end up with sore knees, scraped elbows, a bruised pride . . . but that one time, that twentieth, maybe fiftieth try you'll push past your usual play — you'll go beyond your established maximum and reach that star. Then you must keep clinging to that star holding tight to all that's been done before . . . and when you raise your head up, standing firmly on that star, you'll see yet another, twinkling brightly . . . just beyond your reach . . .

ARCHERY

The 1978 Archery Team:
 Susie Powell — Freshman
 Kaki Hicks — Sophomore
 Marsha Gray — Sophomore
 Alda Brown — Sophomore
 Kathy Bique — Junior
 Melissa Crick — Junior, Manager
 Miss Lang — Coach

A couple of loyal archers: Kathy Bique and Kaki Hicks.

Due to the fact that the archery team's only competition was held away from Longwood, we were not able to get more pictures of them in action . . . Sorry fans!

Robin Hood would be proud, if he could see our archers in action. Through a lot of long hours out on Barlow Field, our girls held their own, excellently, in competition. Although rumor has it that a number of apples have been shot off the heads of campus school kids, we do believe that they aim only for the bulls-eye in the target.

Their regular season shoots went great and they really got psyched up for the Virginia State Tournament. They came home from the meet wet, tired, and exhausted, but carrying with them the Second Place title!

No team is complete unless it has a fan. Not an electric one, but a real live one. A fan. A spectator. Someone who sits on the side in the freezing cold, or the burning heat and cheers the team on to victory or, as fate may have it, to defeat.

The fans are the most important part of the Sports scene. They add encouragement and excitement from the sidelines with their shouts and hollers.

There is always quite an assortment of fans. They come from high and low, near and far, the great, the small, the meek and the mighty! All gathering together for one central purpose — to SUPPORT the Team! YEA FANS!!!!

ORGANIZATIONS

Just as a stream is not only water, but also the life in it and surrounding it, Academic growth is not the only area in which we mature. Clubs and organizations play a vital role in development as involved members of our society. The diversity of Longwood's population can be seen in the variety of clubs and organizations which thrive on our campus. We gained two new clubs this year. LOG is a club interested in the great outdoors. The Student Alumni Association also developed this year in response to our expansion. The SAA, with its philosophy of students helping students, will help in keeping our college community close as we gain in numbers.

R.O.T.C. became a new experience on campus this year. A small group, yet one which set out to make their presence known. They seemed to offer many new experiences and challenges to the ordinary college life. Hang gliding at Nags Head, N.C. and a day at Ft. A.P. Hill were just a few of the adventures this group tackled this year.

A Twentieth Century Menagerie

A Twentieth Century Menagerie was the theme of the H2O's club spring show. The show consisted of a variety of music characterizing the twentieth century. The show consisted of eight skits which began in the early 1900's and ended on a thought for the future. The club combined lights, creative costumes, sound and dancing to produce the effect desired. The club was led this year through the many trying times by the enthusiasm of their president, Patty K. Chapman. Their sponsor, Mrs. Andrews, worked behind the scenes offering her advice and criticism freely. The club journeyed to Williamsburg and to Richmond this year to clinics on how to improve the art of synchronized swimming. All the hard work has paid off because they sure are becoming a symbol of quality.

harder on men or women?

The Intramural Athletic Association, made up of the student body, is with approximately twenty active members. The activities they deal with include getting the intramural teams set up, and finding someone interested in managing a sport. They also help any team needing support by sponsoring them. The I.A.A. has done this for four years for the woman's softball team, and have been rewarded by the team winning first place all four years.

They have also recently set up the "check-out system." This is designed to allow anyone who would like to borrow athletic equipment owned by the I.A.A.

Ms. Callaway is the faculty advisor who works mainly with the managers and the officers.

Have you ever wondered what goes into the preparation of your dependable, weekly "Rotunda"? Probably a lot more than the average ordinary student would imagine! All of those articles aren't just dreamed up, and magically printed onto paper.

Those articles pass through several hands before they reach you — the reader.

Thanks to all participating in the putting together of such an informative and amusing paper.

The Happy Warriors, better known as the Longwood Lancers, brought fame and recognition to Longwood this year. Riding high and mighty, they excelled at every meet they attended. Many people believed they were a meek group but were proved wrong when they encountered them in a meet. The Longwood Lancers are famous for something else — they introduced the nickname for all of her teams. Longwood should be proud of her Lancers!

The Happy Warrior

WRESTLING

Longwood's newest athletic group on campus came in with a roar! They're the great and gruesome grapplers. Although they have not gained the status of a team, the newly formed interest group has garnered a lot of support for their first season. They met all their opponents head on and fought to win a victorious pin every time. All hats off to the newly born, and fastest growing sport at Longwood — WRESTLING. If Joanie could see you now!

GETTING TOUGH

GREEKS

Greek Week brought a week of fun, competition and a chance to promote the Greek spirit to all non-greeks. The week was full of activities to recognize the presence of the greek system on our campus. The week began with a walk-a-thon, on Sunday, to raise money for the Farmville Day Care Center, a Scholarship Banquet on Monday night, where Ann Hunt was named Greek Woman of the Year. A special happy hour at the Red Lyon on Tuesday night was followed by the talent show on Wednesday. The games followed on Saturday and Alpha Gamma Delta emerged on top for scoring the most points. Thanks to all the sororities who participated and help make this Greek Week a super success

Dance Company

Highlighted by one fantastic performance a semester, the dance company worked hard to perfect the individual talent contained within the group. Each company, first and second semester, had its own special personality, which shined through the dancers at the dance concert. The individual dances were choreographed by one of the dancers. Ms. Bowman led the group, as their moderator.

The lighting, stage, set and props, were expertly and creatively done by the dancers and a great group of light and stage crew people. The effects achieved by the lighting and simple sets complemented the performances and added to the beauty and originality of each dance.

Fight vivacious girls became Spirit Boosters for the Hampden-Sydney football team this fall. The squad, with three new freshman girls, spent many hours of practice perfecting their skill for their weekly performances. Led by co-captains Trisha Williams and Peggy Bryant, the girls helped keep their football players' spirits high during the regular season.

A black and white photograph of a paved path leading through a wooded area towards a building with a steeple. The path is flanked by trees and foliage, and the scene is dappled with sunlight and shadows. In the distance, a building with a prominent steeple is visible through the trees. A few people can be seen walking on the path to the right.
